BROWN FARM

William Brown purchased the farm in 1969 from Sylvester Linzmeyer. In 1980, William's son Bob and wife Carmen purchased the farm and raised their son Erich and daughter Bridgid there. Bob and Carmen still live there today.

Originally, the barn was used for milking dairy cows. Presently, the Browns use it for calving pens and raise beef cattle.

This block was installed in May 2015 by the Oconto Electric Cooperative.
