

#39

WESTENBERG FARM

The Westenberg's moved to this 40 acre farm in 1972 with their family, as the children wanted a country life with animals.

They bought the farm in 1972 and had a few animals. Lightning struck the barn and burned it down to the ground along with the wooden silo a few years later.

They then put up a steel shed and now have rented out the land.

The barn quilt is in memory of all the good times our family has had here.

This quilt block was installed by the Oconto Electric Coop in May 2016.